DOROTHY DIX

The Girl Who Is Afraid of Disillusion.
Shall She Remain an Unpaid Servant or
Get a Job?—The Flapper's "Tragedy"

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl of 20, engaged to a boy, but I have heard so much of the disillusion of married life that I am afraid to marry. Is it true that after a few months your husband will tire of you? Are most men unfaithful? Do early flappers ruin a happy marriage? Does every husband begrudge his wife and children a support? All my life I have looked forward to a happy marriage and a home, but if these things are not true I would rather remain single.

—DOROTHY DIX

Answer:—My dear child, marriage is like everything else in life, with about an even chance of success or failure. There are no more things in this world. Everything is a gamble, and you have to have sporting blood enough to make you willing to play the game and take the risk.

There is no business that you could enter into which you could be assured of making money. There is no career you could expect in which you would be certain of achieving success. There is no achievement in which you could figure out for yourself, which you would be sure of finding happiness. Marriage is no more a venture than anything else we do in life.

There are marriages that are built on earth, but there are other marriages that are built on heaven. There are husbands who are brutes, but there are other husbands who are saints. Some husbands tire of their wives after a few months. Others are faithful to the end. Some babies ruin a marriage, generally they tend to ruin a husband and wife together. There are husbands who begrudge their wives children a living, but most of them are slaves to their wives. So there you are, and you get your money and take your choice.

But bear this in mind, my child, that whether your marriage is a success or a failure and your husband's attitude toward you depends largely on you. In the great majority of cases when a husband tires of his wife after a few months it is because she has become unattractive. She has thought that matrimony gave a woman the privileges of women's caprice and eating and drinking and being cruel and peevish and hating.

It doesn't take long for any man to tire of that kind of a wife, but there are millions for whom to keep her husband as wild as she is to work for three times as hard to keep her husband as wild as she is to catch him.

The great majority of husbands are not faithful to their wives. Otherwise the statistics of matrimony would have to be smashed long ago. Look about you at all the men you know who are just as devoted to their wives as the moon. But it is not for her husband to be faithful to a wife who jilts him and fawns over him and makes him the principal place on earth to him.

Sometimes the babies ruin a home, but this only happens when a woman is silly enough to let her husband see that a little unscrupulous red-tailed rat in a cradle has knocked his nose completely out of joint and that thereafter his money counts as the children's ether and he earns money to indulge them.

That very few husbands begrudge their wives and children their living is about the fact that most men are not only willing to support their families and that father never always gets nothing but his heart and his life for his labor. Wife and the kids get the remainder. Don't be afraid to marry. Because others fail, it is no reason why you should.

MONDAY AT EMPRESS

One of the most carefully selected motion picture casts and one that contains many "big" names has been brought together for "Beau Geste," Paramount's most important screen production which comes to the Empress on Monday.

Ronald Colman plays the title role, that of Michael or "Beau," the eldest of the three young English brothers who survive all for each other. Neil Hamilton is the second brother, Digby, and Ralph Forbes plays his five years older brother, the youngest, John.

Also Jones, one of the screen's best featured comedians, and Mary Brate are the two—and the only—female characters in the picture.

Now Brate was assigned to what critics have called one of the finest character roles in the history of motion pictures, that of the brave, brutal sergeant of the French Foreign legion with whom the three brothers go to the Sahara Desert to suppress the revolt of the stranger, most dramatic and realistic of real life episodes.

MONDAY AT MONARCH

Miss Gibson lives up to the billing title of his latest Universal feature, "A Hero of the Horseback," the screen version of Dore S. Kynard's novel, "The Riders of the Purple Sage," which is the top spot at the Monarch theatre.

Especially well directed, the picture gets away from the usual theme and the routine action of most western films and strikes a new note in the genre.

Also featured is a picture which is a new twist on the old theme of a man's search for his lost love, "The Girl Who Wasn't There," which is the top spot at the Monarch theatre.

Now Brate was assigned to what critics have called one of the finest character roles in the history of motion pictures, that of the brave, brutal sergeant of the French Foreign legion with whom the three brothers go to the Sahara Desert to suppress the revolt of the stranger, most dramatic and realistic of real life episodes.

MONDAY AT MONARCH

Miss Gibson lives up to the billing title of his latest Universal feature, "A Hero of the Horseback," the screen version of Dore S. Kynard's novel, "The Riders of the Purple Sage," which is the top spot at the Monarch theatre.

Especially well directed, the picture gets away from the usual theme and the routine action of most western films and strikes a new note in the genre.

Also featured is a picture which is a new twist on the old theme of a man's search for his lost love, "The Girl Who Wasn't There," which is the top spot at the Monarch theatre.

MONDAY AT EMPRESS

One of the most carefully selected motion picture casts and one that contains many "big" names has been brought together for "Beau Geste," Paramount's most important screen production which comes to the Empress on Monday.

Ronald Colman plays the title role, that of Michael or "Beau," the eldest of the three young English brothers who survive all for each other. Neil Hamilton is the second brother, Digby, and Ralph Forbes plays his five years older brother, the youngest, John.

Also Jones, one of the screen's best featured comedians, and Mary Brate are the two—and the only—female characters in the picture.

STRICT TEST

STRICT TEST

Traffic officials and scientists are coming to closer agreement that with the thousands of automobiles on city streets, strict tests must be made.

Yet this study has no intention of putting an automobile license law on its statute books. Any wreck of an automobile at the time of a similar accident would be subject to the same strict tests as the sanction of state legislators who fail to see the danger in this.

In New York state, where a strict license law prevails, traffic officials watch cars closely. But there is no such law. There is a feeling among them, based on past experience, that Ohio motorists are particularly careless. They say that the law is not strictly enforced.

There is no reason to be taken out of motorists when the threat faces them of losing their licenses renewed. Even at the beginning a good auto driver can get an application that might have been a nuisance in a few days.

It is not to be said that the law is not strictly enforced. It is not to be said that the law is not strictly enforced. It is not to be said that the law is not strictly enforced.

CHRYSLER HAS NEW FEATURE

"One of the many features that have been the subject of widespread praise for the new Imperial is the introduction of the 'Illustrated New Chrysler 72' to the public. A few days ago in the editorial pages of Young Men, reading by the title, 'Illustrated New Chrysler 72', I saw a headline that said, 'Illustrated New Chrysler 72' is due to hit home in an unusual way this spring in the form of a rubber spring. It is a rubber spring, perfect for their Imperial 72's, and it is a rubber spring for the Chrysler line, and which is incorporated in all seven body types of the new Imperial 72."

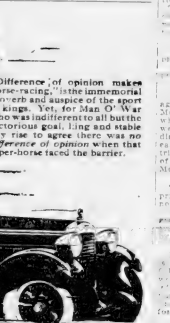

"Shock Insulation by means of rubber spring mountings has been the subject of much discussion of the highest luxury class, and the Illustrated New 72 is its pioneer. It is the first rubber spring automobile in the world. Among all the motor cars manufactured in recent years, few have contributed so much to passenger pleasure as this device."

FALCON-KNIGHT DESIGNED TO END ACCIDENTS

With traffic officials of the nation looking forward to the coming of the Falcon-Knight, designers have given the designers of the Falcon-Knight a special attention. In the design of the Falcon-Knight, safety features which have been developed for the safety of the driver and passengers have been included.

A second safety factor is the employment of the Falcon-Knight's mechanical brake equipment which makes any motor car's speed depend on the driver's foot.

ON MOTOR TRIP TAKE A WEEK, ADD PLEASURE

Don't forget to plan with a motor trip. It will increase the pleasure of the automobile, diminish the tedium of a long journey, and refresh both mind and body.

You few motorists realize that the greatest physical and mental benefits of motor travel are derived through constant and purposeful driving. As Dr. William M. Schell, a noted expert on foot hygiene, in his book "Motor Travel" states, "It is a rule for a host of the which follow in the wake of constant physical inactivity and mental stress."

Many persons feel completely exhausted after a day or so of constant motor travel. This is particularly true of the driver, although others in the car are also not free from the wearing effects of prolonged riding. The reason for this is constant driving and the necessity of exertion. It is not only the driver who is particularly tired, but the passengers are also tired. The reason for this is constant driving and the necessity of exertion.

Enormous Crops Place Alberta on Highroad of Prosperity

CENTRAL AND NORTHERN DISTRICTS IN FOREFRONT AS WEALTH PRODUCERS

Agricultural Yield of Province for Present Year Conservatively Placed at $315,000,000 by Experts—Total New Wheat Alone Expected to be 175,000 Bushels, Fame of the Province Spreads

This is Alberta's year. Ever since Alberta became a province in 1905 the story of its agricultural development has been one of steady growth. There have been, it is true, partial crop failures in some districts in some years, but always and ever the progress of the province has been steady and marked.

This is especially true of Central and Northern Alberta. The region almost entirely the heart of the province, the centre of one of the best wheat producing areas on the North American continent. This section of the province, served with rainfalls for the great part and blessed with an equable climate and soil which for fertility is unsurpassed, has been the backbone of the progress of Alberta. Year by year has seen the importance of the central and northern sections of Alberta growing and now, in 1927, with the greatest crop in the history of the province, and in some parts already being threshed, the greatest period of prosperity this section has ever known is opening up.

Some idea of what this means to the province can be gathered from the following figures: In 1905, when Alberta became a province, the value of the agricultural products raised that year was $20,000,000. In 1926, that value had grown to $263,311,510, and the lowest possible figures compiled by experts put this year's figure at $315,000,000. These figures are conservative. They are made up by government experts, who admit that if they err at all it is on the conservative side. They mean that from one industry alone, the basic industry of Alberta, some $315,000,000 or more will be received in Alberta.

Province's Wheat Yield About 175,000 Bushels

Where 113,120,000 bushels of wheat was raised in 1926, as against 3,035,441 in 1905, this year there will be at least 175,000,000 bushels of wheat raised in Alberta.

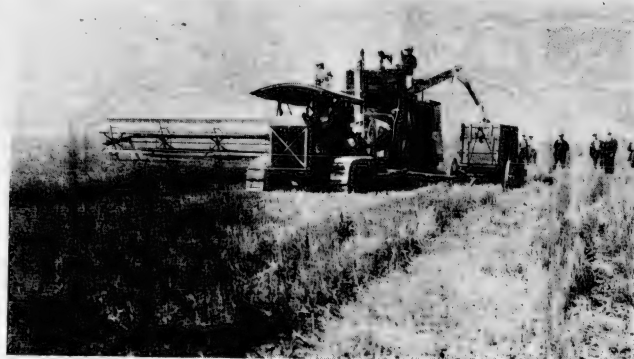

But this is not all. Alberta has other industries, and they have kept pace with the development of the agricultural industry. The coal mining industry, the lumbering industry, the pulp and paper industry, and various other manufacturing industries, stimulated by the great growth and production in the agricultural industry of Alberta, have all expanded, until today Alberta, in the opinion of leading financial and industrial men of Canada, stands on the edge of one of the most wonderful periods of development and prosperity ever faced by any province in the Dominion.

Province's Fame Spreads
The fame of the province has gone abroad. In Great Britain, in Europe, in the United States, wherever and whenever men forgetter to talk of agriculture and of progress, Canada, and Alberta, and the Peace River country loom large. They are the magnets that are drawing hundreds to Canada, and Alberta, and the Peace River country.

Renewed Confidence in Alberta Is Justified By Events, Governor Asserts

BY LIEUT. GOVERNOR WM. EGBERT

DURING the closing months of the sixth year of Confederation that we actually pause to reflect upon the progress that has been made during these eventful years. Many men and women are living today under whose eyes those wonderful changes have taken place, and it must be a source of pleasure and satisfaction to them to see the progress that has been made.

LIEUT. GOV. WM. EGBERT

When we look back upon the progress that has been made during these eventful years, we are struck by the fact that the progress has been made in many directions. We have seen the growth of the agricultural industry, the development of the manufacturing industry, the expansion of the service industry, and the growth of the population. We have seen the progress of the province in many directions, and we are justified in our renewed confidence in the future of the province.

Improved Conditions in City Warrant Making Improvements—Mayor

BY MAYOR A. J. BURBY

THE greatness and prosperity of the city depend, first, upon the health and vitality of the people, and secondly, upon the health and vitality of the city.

MAYOR BURBY

The health and vitality of the people, and the health and vitality of the city, are the two most important factors in the development of the city. We must have a healthy and vital people, and we must have a healthy and vital city, if we are to have a great and prosperous city. We must have a healthy and vital people, and we must have a healthy and vital city, if we are to have a great and prosperous city.

Alberta's Wondrous Crop Means a Higher Standard Of Living in Our Province

BY PREMIER BROWNLEE

ALBERTA this year is indeed a prosperous province, and this statement involves much more than reference to the wealth represented by our bountiful crop. True prosperity signifies more than a profitable financial return on a year's operations. While this, of course, is the material basis for better conditions in a country, as in an individual business, prosperity in its broadest sense is a much greater thing than this.

The importance of this material factor lies not so much in the additional money which is placed in circulation, as in the resulting conditions of increased labor and better wages, higher standards of living and a feeling of confidence in the land which makes these things possible. Alberta farmers are harvesting this year what is undoubtedly the greatest crop in the history of the province. This will be reflected directly in a greatly accelerated agricultural development and indirectly in its effects on business conditions in many other lines, and these facts cannot fail to make a strong impression on those who are watching our progress.

Our rapid growth and our opportunities for further development are appealing strongly to peoples of many lands who realize the advantage of coming to us to make their homes, and there is every indication that we are about to see in the next few years a movement of people to our agricultural land which will help to solve many of our problems.

The building of larger and more permanent communities with the consequent development of resources and growth of industries will bring about a more lasting sense of prosperity in our province, and 1927 promises to be the beginning of this era in which we have been hopefully looking forward.

VERY IMPORTANT CROP
The year is becoming a popular and important crop over all the province. Wherever you go, you will find the people of the province are proud of their crop, and they are proud of their province. They are proud of their province, and they are proud of their people.

POPULARITY

The Piano that Develops Personality

Popularity depends upon what one does as much as upon what one is.

Personality counts for much and it can be made to count for more, by the ability to please others. In fact, it can often be developed by certain accomplishments. Music is an example.

The ability to play the piano develops the happy faculty of poise. It strengthens personal magnetism. It promotes popularity. For youth must be served—with Music!

Your boy—your girl—some day will be among those who gather around the piano in fraternity—or sorority. Will he or she be able to answer the call for music?

While they are young children, let them have the advantages of a MASON & RISCH Piano. Its purity of tone and its responsiveness to the player's feelings are an inspiration to child—or youth—or adult.

Your Child has a Right to Happiness therefore to Music. Grant that and you will also give your boy or girl the opportunity to win popularity.

Mason & Risch Pianos are available in models to suit all homes and all incomes—each worthy of being known as "The Piano with a Soul."

FREE LANDS OF PROVINCE NOT NEAR RAILWAYS

Best Plan for Settlers is to Buy Farms in Settled Districts

Those interested in further should write to the following: Although there are considerable tracts of homestead and lands in Central Alberta, they cannot be found near railways or towns. But there are many thousands of acres of free homesteads in the Edmonton Land District. These will be found to the south-west, north-west, north and north-east of the City of Edmonton, at distances varying from 60 to 100 miles.

For the Peace River and Grande Prairie Land district, in northern Alberta there are still billions of acres of free homestead land available for free grants. Many thousands of acres may be obtained by the following method: Write to the "Government Agent in Great Britain or the United States, from the Department of the Interior, Ottawa," or from the secretary of the Board of Land Sales, Edmonton, Alberta.

More Scientific Dairying Need of Farmers

FUTURE OF INDUSTRY LIES IN WIDER KNOWLEDGE OF FEEDING

W. W. Prevey, M.L.A., Head of Edmonton City Dairy, Visualizes Day When Great Herds of Well-Bred Cattle Will Pasture on Vast Acres of Alberta's Untapped Feeding Grounds

Visualizing a day when great herds of well bred cattle should pasture on the vast acreages of Alberta that are still unimproved, a day when unnecessary labor in the production of milk and dairy products had been eliminated, and a time when more attention would be paid to mixed farming throughout the province, W. W. Prevey, M.L.A., manager of the Edmonton City Dairy, declared that Alberta's greatest need at present was more concentration on scientific dairying and increased milk production.

"The future of dairying lies in a wider knowledge of the scientific feeding of cattle, in better selection of stock, in the adoption of the most modern methods of dairying, and in a study of existing statistics, that each man's herd may attain to the greatest possible average of production per cow," said Mr. Prevey.

Mixed farming is always the basis of agriculture and the basic part of mixed farming is dairying," he continued.

DAILY FEEDING CERTAINS TO PRODUCE GOOD RESULTS

In connection with what is known as the danger of food, but which is not a danger at all, Mr. Prevey declared that the great need of dairying was a wider knowledge of feeding.

"The application of a certain knowledge of feeding to each cow is the only way to get the best results," he said.

"Most important of all, present in the field of dairying is a milk machine of reasonable cost which may be located by the average dairymen to speed up production and lessen his labor."

Prevey was gradually realizing the importance of feeding cattle and of producing proper fodder for them in the cold weather through his knowledge," said Mr. Prevey.

"In addition, of course it is also necessary for the successful summer feeding of dairy cattle, which is the basic part of mixed farming is dairying," he continued.

With the opening of the Panama Canal, the Port of Vancouver became not only Canada's Gateway to the Orient with all the possibilities of trade which the vast population of the various Asiatic Countries implies, but it also became the outlet to the United Kingdom and other European Countries for the agricultural products of Western Canada and the inlet through which Western Canada's requirements from other portions of the world must naturally come. The ship which carries Grain, Flour and other products overseas is also anxious for a return cargo. In order that the return trip may not be a total loss, ship owners are also prepared to quote favorable rates on return cargo. Route your purchases through the Port of Vancouver, and by so doing help to create favorable water rates on your own product.

A Successful Plan for the People's Savings

The Dominion Savings Certificate Act was passed in 1915, with the two-fold object of—

1. Obtaining money at a cheaper rate of interest than the prevailing high rates then current.
2. Encouraging thrift by a simple system of saving, giving taxpayers a high interest return on their savings, while the Government was repaying its war debt.

The original interest allowed under this method was 3% compounded semi-annually. The compounding feature was introduced in January 1st, 1921, owing to the high cost of borrowing money at that time. It was half of one per cent. above the rate then prevailing. In 1922, the interest rate was 2% compounded semi-annually. In 1923, it was 2.5% compounded semi-annually. In 1924, it was 3% compounded semi-annually. In 1925, it was 3.5% compounded semi-annually. In 1926, it was 4% compounded semi-annually. In 1927, it was 4% compounded semi-annually.

It was John Baptist van Helmont, of Brussels, who saw the necessity of his original line of research and made some of the earliest and most important contributions to modern chemistry during the seventeenth century. He studied and practiced medicine, later turning to chemistry and research work. He was a pioneer in the development of the gas laws. One of the best of that line of philosophers who labored in vain in the eternal hope of making gold.

As a result, the use of natural gas has increased steadily in the past few years. The following are some of the reasons why:

- Cost Savings: Natural gas is generally less expensive than other fossil fuels, such as oil and coal.
- Environmental Benefits: Natural gas is a cleaner-burning fuel, producing fewer pollutants and greenhouse gases than other fossil fuels.
- Energy Efficiency: Natural gas is a highly efficient fuel, providing more energy per unit of volume than other fossil fuels.
- Availability: Natural gas is widely available in many regions, making it a convenient fuel source for many applications.

As a result, the use of natural gas is expected to continue to grow in the coming years.

Use of Gas for Cooking

Just prior to the war, when the use of gas for cooking was still in its infancy, the use of gas for cooking was limited to a few select areas. However, as the use of gas for cooking grew, it became more widely available and more affordable. Today, the use of gas for cooking is widespread and has become a popular choice for many households.

The use of gas for cooking has many advantages. First, gas is a clean-burning fuel, producing fewer pollutants and greenhouse gases than other fossil fuels. Second, gas is a highly efficient fuel, providing more energy per unit of volume than other fossil fuels. Third, gas is widely available in many regions, making it a convenient fuel source for many applications. Finally, gas is a relatively inexpensive fuel, making it an attractive choice for many households.

As a result, the use of gas for cooking is expected to continue to grow in the coming years.

Wholesale Gas Companies

Wholesale gas companies are responsible for the distribution of natural gas to end users. These companies typically purchase gas from producers and then sell it to residential, commercial, and industrial customers. Wholesale gas companies play a critical role in the natural gas market, ensuring that gas is delivered safely and reliably to end users.

Wholesale gas companies typically have a long history and a strong reputation in the industry. They are responsible for maintaining the integrity of the natural gas supply chain and ensuring that gas is delivered safely and reliably to end users. Wholesale gas companies also play a key role in the development of new natural gas infrastructure, such as pipelines and storage facilities.

As a result, wholesale gas companies are an essential part of the natural gas market and are expected to continue to play a critical role in the future.

SAFE MILK PROPERLY PASTEURIZED Makes Children Strong

THE DIET of the child has an important bearing upon his physical well-being and even upon his success in school. The normal, well-nourished child has a much better chance in the inevitable competition in school study than the child which is underfed or suffering from malnutrition.

Safe Milk as a food is equally desirable for the strongest, sturdiest youngsters, as it helps to retain their robust health and to renew the terrific demands upon their energy.

There is no more wonderful food than safe milk --- it is equally desirable for the most vigorous and most delicate invalid. It is practically 100% food, as the weight element is negligible.

Furthermore, safe milk supplies valuable elements which other foods often lack. It makes blood, it builds bone, it supplies the necessary vitamins.

Make safe milk a necessary part of the family diet.

Every morning the farmers deliver their milk direct to our plant, the milk is examined by an expert when it arrives, temperatures checked and samples taken for examination, it is pasteurized and immediately cooled ready for loading on to our wagons in perfect condition.

It is PURE--SAFE--RICH always

Dominion Possesses Greater Area Of Pre-Cambrian Formation Than Any Other Country in the World

But Small Portion of Potential Wealth of This Vast Mineral Bearing Area Has Been Scratched; Many Famous Strikes in Canada Are Recalled; Luck Often Plays Important Part in Rich Finds

Science and romance are intertwined inseparably in the annals of the north country's development. Around a hundred prospectors' camp fires one may hear stories, founded on actual facts, which verify the old adage: "Truth is stranger than fiction." There is a charmed circle of men who have achieved remarkable success in mining ventures in Northern Ontario and Quebec. The name of N. A. Timmins, for instance, is one to be reckoned with. The list of mining millionaires is being enlarged constantly.

The work of the prospectors is a dangerous and sometimes a deadly one. There are many of them who have been killed by the elements or by the very rocks they are seeking to mine. But it is the lure of the great wealth that often drives them to the end of their rope.

BREAD

Royal S. Copeland, M.D., former Health Commissioner of New York, in a recent article, said:

"So essential is Bread to life and Health that when we think of food we think first of Bread. And the word "Bread" has come to include all the things we eat. The food elements are proteins, fats and carbohydrates, together with certain essential minerals. Good Bread contains twelve per cent of proteins, fifty per cent or more of carbohydrates, one per cent of fat, besides water and minerals.

To make it really perfect, the modern Bakers are adding milk to the mixture. The milk Bread has all the elements we need for bone, muscle, teeth and brain tissue."

He says further that if you take a plate of thick slices of Bread and place it with a pitcher of pure, sweet milk before your children, you will supply them with a perfectly balanced meal, and a meal that they are sure to enjoy.

GROWING CHILDREN require adequate nourishment

Fresh air, changes of scenery — these are not enough. Growing children must have plenty of nourishing foods as well. In Bread there is a substance which, though it exists only in minute quantities, yet it exercises a profound influence upon life — Vitamin B. Partial deprivation of this vitamin results in marked loss of appetite and failure to digest food. If deprived of it entirely, a child's growth becomes slower and slower and finally stops altogether. McGavin's Bread will supply your children with just the right quantities of this vitamin. It is made with pure, sweet milk and is more delicious, more digestible, more richly appetizing than you ever thought bread could be.

STATISTICS PROVE THE IMPORTANCE OF ALBERTA'S PETROLEUM RESOURCES

Approximately 80,000 Square Miles Are Unlain by Possible Structure Suitable for Oil Accumulations, Says Dr. Allan, of the Geographical Survey

By DR. J. A. ALLAN,
Alberta Geological Survey
Edmonton, Alberta

The importance of the petroleum resources of Alberta is becoming increasingly apparent to the public as the demand for oil products grows. The Alberta Geological Survey has recently completed a detailed study of the province's oil resources, and the results are most encouraging.

Prospects Better Than Ever

The study shows that there are still vast areas of the province which have not been explored for oil. In fact, approximately 80,000 square miles of land are still available for possible oil accumulation. This is a very large area, and it is estimated that there is still a great deal of oil to be discovered in Alberta.

Different Geological Situation

The geological situation in Alberta is very different from that in other provinces. The province is divided into several distinct geological regions, each of which has its own characteristics. This makes the search for oil a very complex task, but it also means that there are many different types of oil resources available in Alberta.

History of Oil Exploration

The history of oil exploration in Alberta is a long one. It began in the early days of the century, when the first oil wells were drilled. Since then, the industry has grown steadily, and today Alberta is one of the leading oil-producing provinces in Canada.

The future of the oil industry in Alberta is very bright. With the vast areas of land still available for exploration, and the growing demand for oil products, it is certain that there will be a great deal of oil to be discovered in the years to come.

It Is Cheaper Than Washing At Home

Wet Wash at 5c a pound takes care of all your washing. Everything washed sweet and clean in fresh rain-soft water and pure soap—rinsed over and over again in the same soft water—the excess moisture gently whirled out of the clothes and everything returned just damp enough for ironing or to be hung out and dried.

And All This for Only 5c a Pound

Count the cost of soap, fuel, water, blue, soda—the wear and tear on utensils—and most of all the work and drudgery on yourself—the ruination of your health and the time it takes.

Sixteen Years

...OF...

Persistent Progress

It was in 1911 that this business was established with these two ideas in mind:

FIRST—To give the people of Edmonton and surrounding districts, SERVICE.

SECOND—To give the people of Edmonton and surrounding districts, MERCHANDISE at reasonable prices.

We have most conscientiously and efficiently carried out these two ideas, and have thus been able to establish our store as a place of service to the people of Edmonton and surrounding districts.

The fact alone that more people are taking advantage of our service every year, is an incentive to greater service in future.

We hope to continue to enjoy the friendly relationship of all, and to uphold and enlarge the ideals upon which this institution was founded.
